COFFEE MARKET UPDATE

As you may be aware, the global coffee market is experiencing unprecedented challenges, with prices at an all-time high and showing no signs of decreasing. Climate-related crop shortages, supply chain disruptions, and increased demand have all contributed to rising costs across the industry. While we remain dedicated to sourcing and supplying the highest quality coffee, these market conditions have led us to make some temporary adjustments to our available coffees with immediate effect.

Some of our blends have been slightly modified to accommodate sourcing challenges, but we have carefully adjusted them to ensure they retain the same delicious taste and high quality that you and your customers expect.

Please ensure that you have updated your product listings on your website.

Thank you for your understanding and continued support.
